

8 : I am a very fine cook

A Doris: Well, I certainly won't argue.

DORIS

f Vigoroso, ma non troppo  $\text{♩} = 100$

I am a ve-ry fine cook,

7

ve-ry fine cook, that's me I don't cook by the book I need no re-ci-pe I al-ways start with the ve-ry best in-gred-i-ents I on-ly work where I find it most con-ven-i-ent

14

21

All of the toffs on the block Want me to cook their nosh They love off-al and hock

27

Long as the name soundsposh I ne-ver weigh food, I wash and trim and then just guess That's the sec-ret

34

B

of my great suc - cess I star - ted as a kit - chen girl like you

41

I scrubbed un - til my fin - gers bled like you I list - ened care - ful - ly Picked up all the 48

C

tips I could That's how I learned my trade That's why I am so good

That's why she is so

54

good She is a ve - ry fine cook Ve - ry fine cook, that's her She don't

60 D

DORIS I al-waysmake sure that all myfood is ed - i - ble

cook by the book, Just gives it all a stir

67

It isquite in - cre - di - ble Meatand fruitand veg - di - ble There is no fin - er cook than me

75 E

I am a ve - ryfine cook Well - known a - round these 82

parts I buy a pig's headand

Like the oldPrince of Wales Fam - ous for 'tas - ty tarts!

boil it just like Miss-us Peek I make

She leavethe eyes in, so it will see her through the week!

fine Sun-day roasts And tas-ty Ir-ish stews

She makes hershep-herdspies From shep-herds' how-d'ye

My plumsand cust-ard are famedfromhere to Ber-mond-sey No one knows a fin-ercook than dos!

F

me I start-ed cook-ing at an ear - ly age

She learned the sec - rets of a kitch - en sage Then as the years went by She soon caught her mast - er's eye Her dump - lings looked so real He had to have a feel!

G

DORIS I am a ve - ry fine cook Ve - ry fine cook that's me I don't cook by the book

I need no re - ci - pe I al ways make sure that all my food is ed - i - ble It is quite in - cred - i - ble There is no fin - er cook than Meat and fruit and veg - di - ble

me
no fin - er cook